HOUSE HUNTING LATEST SUNDAY SPORT; HERE'S STORY OF WHAT OCCURS

BY C. U. M'DOWELL. "House hunting" is the latest Sunday sport for Memphis folk. No matter whether they have a place to live now, or whether they are basking under the sun or staying in the depots, you sally forth on Sundays to find another place. House renting has become a science for the landlords that threaten to exclude auctioneers from the records of rapid increases in bids and sales. The Chamber of Commerce is considering a plan to appeal to sales. The Chamber of Commerce is considering a plan to appeal to 1,000 families to open their homes; various other civic organizations have met in solemn session to "solve" the housing problem, but all of this is only stimulating the Sunday "With sanfidence prograting from exercive and with optimism shiming as a heaven, the house hunter leaves his botte, the depart, variant to or temporary comments to find a place to live. In asserting that the league of nations campaign, Mr. Lewis said:

"We now owe something at home. We must propose measures for the relief of the United States. We must make an issue of the deliberate refusal of the Republicans to propose any one measure to reduce the high cost of living or to provide for the homeless—the refusal to deny that it was their intention to repeal present federal reserve hank and the farm loan law."

The Democracy must make a platform at San Francisco that is affirmative, constructive, and which promises the continuance of the policies of enrichment of this land and the protection of the American citizen—leaving Europe and foreign questions to be taken up where such can be done without the abandonment of the American in his first rights," the senator's platform concluded.
